Sunday schools of Waco churches, led by their superintendents and class teachers, began yesterday an effort of three weeks' duration, ending on and including Easter Sunday, to swell their attendance records in co-operation with the movement placed on foot by the Morning News yesterday morning to bring Waco Sunday school attendances to a mark never reached before.

The Morning News in its Sunday morning's issue offered donations totalling $20 to the four Sunday schools of Waco which on Easter Sunday could announce the largest average increase in attendance. Donations of $10, $5, $3 and $2, respectively, for the first, second, third and fourth Sunday schools showing the highest average increase in attendance are to be made. Both pastors and Sunday school superintendents.

Anne Works Valiantly to Pinch Pennies In Effort to Make $15 Last a Week

By Anne Austin.

We had a fine hamburger roast for today, and I thought perhaps you would like to see the recipe by which we made it. It is inexpensive and awfully good.

If you decide to try it, be sure to ask your grocer to let you see the meat which he is to grind up for you, or you may get scraps. I bought the meat over the counter myself and got a little more than a pound and two-thirds for 25¢. After running the meat through the food chopper, together with a medium sized onion, I beat two whole eggs, to which I added a cup of bread crumbs. Salt and pepper were added to the bread and eggs, then I mixed it all. I formed a loaf, dredged it with flour, and poured half a can of tomatoes over it. I baked it slowly for about an hour and a half. I took the grease which had cooked out, the meat containing tallow, and made a flour gravy, which, together with the tomato sauce, made a fine Sunday meat dish, with vegetable elements.

For today we are going to have:

Breakfast.

Hot biscuits (milk) 7¢

Butter 10¢

Syrup 3¢

Coffee with top of milk 4¢

A pint of milk for all day for cooling 5¢

2¢

Dinner and Supper Combined.

Two beans boiled with 1-3 pounds of bacon 26¢

Stewed tomatoes (half can left over yesterday) 6¢

8¢

Cornbread (two meals) 2¢

5¢

Butter 45¢

The tomatoes are to be combined with a generous amount of stale bread, which happened to be on hand when the experiment began. One cent was allowed for the bread. The beans and bacon make a perfectly balanced ration alone.

We have our menus planned through Wednesday, and it looks as if we might come through all right. We early decided that no desserts except on Sunday should be the rule.

The lady of the house is going to make lightbread on Tuesday, and we are looking forward to that treat. I may ask her for the recipe, as her bread has proved up.

Salt, pepper and spice are not included in the weekly budget.

Kaiser Calls Hindenburg for Confab at Palace

REORGANIZE IN FRANCE.

Paris, March 18.—President Poincaré today asked Paul Deschanel, president of the chamber of deputies, to consider whether he could undertake the formation of a cabinet on the principle of a national union. M. Deschanel replied he considered it his duty to remain as president of the chamber of deputies. M. Foincaré then requested M. Ribot, minister of finance, members of the war council in the Briand cabinet to form a ministry. M. Ribot reserved his decision until he could consult various members of parliament.

The news of the sinking of the vessel with many Savannah men among her crew caused great excitement here early tonight and newspaper offices were besieged with inquiries.

Members of the firm of Walker, Armstrong & Co., former owners of the Vigilancia, stated that a new captain had been placed aboard the craft by the new owners of the ship, the Wells Shipping company, registered in Perth Amboy, N. J., with headquarters at New York, and that no members of the crew hailed from Savannah as far as they knew.

The ship has changed owners twice since last May.

GERMAN LINE CRUMBLING ON WEST FRONT

British Troops Have Captured Peronne in Drive Towards Frontier.

ADVANCE ON HUGE FRONT

French Aiding on the Other Flanks—Teutonic Retreat Continuous.

By Associated Press.

London, March 18.—The capture of Peronne by British troops was announced in a Reuter dispatch from British headquarters in France.

British troops, continuing their rapid advance on the heels of the retiring Germans, have occupied the important towns of Nesle, Chaulnes and Peronne. Along a front of about forty-five miles they have entered the German positions to a depth of ten miles in places. In addition, the British have taken more than sixty villages.

R. R. TIE-UP AVERTED BY MEDIATORS

1:27 A. M.

New York, March 18.—Secretary Lane issued this statement: "Regardless of the decision of the supreme court on the Adamson law, the basic eight-hour law will go into effect."

1:45 A. M.

The formal letter in which this authorization was made, signed by Elisha Lee, chairman of the managers' committee, was as follows:

"In the national crisis precipitated by events of which we heard this afternoon, the national conference committee of railroads joins with you in the conviction that neither at home nor abroad should there be fear or hope that the efficient operation of the railroads of the country will be hampered or impaired, therefore you are authorized to assure the nation there will be no strike, and as a basis for such assurance we hereby authorize the committee of the council of national defense to grant the employees who are about to strike, whatever adjustment your committee deems necessary to guarantee the uninterrupted and efficient operation of the railroads as an indispensable arm of national defense."

The decision referred by the managers at their midnight conference means that the brotherhoods have won an important victory, although it does not bring them all their original demands. By the agreement, it is assumed, they will be awarded pro rata time or overtime on the basic eight-hour day, which they have been assured.

Their original demands called for time and a half for overtime on the same basic day.

Texas Bound Ship Among Those Sunk by Kaiser's Subs

Unofficial Washington Says State of War Exists After Stars and Stripes Go Down Under German Torpedo and Gun Fire.

THE CAUSE

CITY OF MEMPHIS, U. S. SHIP, SUNK WITHOUT WARNING BY GERMAN SUBMARINE GUNFIRE; EIGHT OF CREW ARE MISSING.

ILLINOIS, U. S. SHIP, TORPEDOED WITHOUT WARNING BY GERMAN SUBMARINE; CREW LANDED SAFELY.

VIGILANCIA, U. S. SHIP, TORPEDOED WITHOUT WARNING BY GERMAN SUBMARINE; FOURTEEN OF CREW ARE MISSING.

By Associated Press

Washington, March 18.—With the announcement of the destruction of three unarmed American merchant ships by submarines, it was unofficially admitted here tonight that virtually a state of war exists between the United States and Germany.

Technically, the United States remains in a position of armed neutrality. Whether this shall be changed before April 16, the date fixed for a special session of congress, the war-making branch of the government, President Wilson has not decided.

One step the president is contemplating is a call for an immediate session of congress to hear an address asking for authority to adopt aggressive measures against the submarine menace. Already American ships are being armed to defend themselves; the next move must be to send warships with orders to seek out submarines and clear the trans-Atlantic lanes.

Of the three ships sunk, two of them were unloaded and homeward bound and all were American built, American owned and officered and manned largely by American citizens.

Meager dispatches indicate all were sunk from Port Arthur, Texas, February 17, for London. Marine records do not chronicle her arrival at or departure from London.

The Illinois was of 5,225 tons gross. She was 390 feet long, 52 feet of beam and was built in Newport News, Va., in 1913. Her master was Captain Iversen.

The steamship Vigilancia, owned by Walker, Armstrong & Co. of Savannah, sailed from New York for the Azores and Havre on February 28, according to latest marine records. She was of 4,115 tons gross, a freighter, 329 feet long, and 45 feet of beam. She was built in Chester, Pa., in 1890.

The City of Memphis carried a crew of about fifty officers and men, virtually all American-born citizens or Americans by naturalization. The captain, three mates, the chief engineer and three assistants and the steward were Americans by birth. Most of the crew were born in Norway and the firemen in Portugal or Spain, but had taken out final citizenship papers in the United States. The cook was an American negro. Captain Burum of the City of Memphis was a Virginian.

The vessel was owned by the Ocean Steamship company of Savannah.

She left here on January 23 for Havre, France, with cotton. She arrived there on February 6, and word was received here by her owners of her departure for Cardiff to take on bunker coal for her voyage toward New York.

The City of Memphis was of 5,225 tons gross. She was 377 feet long, 49 feet of beam and was built in Chester, Pa., in 1902.

The crew of the Vigilancia comprised forty-five men of whom twenty-one were Americans, including Capt. N. A. Middleton. Two of the twenty-one were naturalized and one had first papers. There were also five Porto Ricans and one Filipino fireman.

Captain Middleton is a New York man. The names of eighteen Americans in the crew are B. D. O'Connell, mate, New York City; J. H. Smith, second mate, Malden, Mass.; N. P. North, naturalized third mate; P. Brown, carpenter, Newport News; A. Gillard, quartermaster, Brooklyn, N.Y.; J. H. Loera, quartermaster, San Juan; S. S. Stamot, seaman, Philippine Islands; Fred Schlews, naturalized, chief engineer; E. A. Denton, assistant engineer, New York City; Walter Scott Jr., second assistant engineer, Fitchburg, Mass.; Alexander Rodriguez, Porto Rico, oiler, no address; M. Ruiz, Porto Rico, fireman, Mayaguez, Porto Rico; C. W. Dawson, steward, Newark, N.J.; J. A. MacDonald, Canada (first papers), second cook, and Baker, Portford, N.S.W.; Walter Pitts, cook, Boston, Mass.; J. Connor, waiter, Seattle, Wash.; E. Lopez, Porto Rico, mess boy, no address; Paul T. Platt, wireless operator, Winter Hill, Mass.

The Vigilancia was built in 1890 for the New York Line and Cuba Mail Steamship company, better known as the Ward Line.

Until shortly after the outbreak of the war, she was engaged in passenger and freight trade between the port of Cuba and Mexico. In 1914 she was sold to engage in the cotton trade from the United States to German ports. In March, 1915, while on the way to Bremerhaven, she was seized by a British cruiser and taken into Kirkwall.

Since then the Vigilancia is said to have changed ownership twice, the last owner being the Barber Line, but when sunk she was under charter to the Globe Line.

She sailed from New York February 28 for the Azores and Havre.

The ship was plainly marked as an American vessel with flags painted on port and starboard bows and with her name and sailing port of New York on both sides in letters five feet high.

Details as to her cargo are withheld by customs officials, but it is understood that it was valued at nearly $750,000 and the ship at more than $1,000,000.

The cargo consisted in part of provisions. Prior to sailing it was reported by some of the men connected with the crew that a large consignment of coffins was also on board.

The Vigilancia registered 4,115 tons gross. She was 320 feet long, 45 feet of beam and was built at Chester, Pa.

Queenstown, March 18.—The American steamer City of Memphis was torpedoed, according to advices received here, by a German submarine at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The crew, numbering fifty-seven, took to five boats. Three of the boats, with thirty-three survivors, were picked up by a steamer at 4 o'clock in the morning and the men have been landed.

The other boats, with twenty-four aboard, are believed to have been picked up. The captain was in one of the boats.

Washington, March 18.—Consul Frost at Queenstown reported to the state department tonight the sinking by a German submarine of the American steamer City of Memphis, saying that forty-nine survivors had been picked up and that an admiral vessel was searching for eight missing.

The consul's dispatch follows:

"American steamer City of Memphis, Cardiff to New York, reported sinking by a German submarine 4 p.m. March 17, thirty-five miles south of Fastnet. Fifteen survivors landed Schull 7 p.m. today. Thirty-four survivors on admiralty vessel, which continues the search for eight missing. Will land Baltimore (on Irish coast) probably today."

The department announced that a dispatch from Consul General Skinner at London said it was reported the City of Memphis, the Illinois and the Vigilance (probably Vigilancia), all American steamers, had been sunk, the latter without warning. The message added that some of the crew of the City of Memphis had been landed; that a patrol boat had gone to pick up the crew of the Illinois.

A second dispatch from Consul Frost stated that thirty-three survivors of the City of Memphis landed at Queenstown and that seven Americans were among the fifteen landed at Schull.

The dispatch follows:

"City of Memphis, thirty-three survivors now landed here; vessel sunk by gunfire; submarine large type, remained on the scene after crew left ship. Refused request to tow boats to land. Weather not severe, but threatening. Survivors at Schull included Allen Carroll, second officer; McPherson, second engineer; Robert Shea, surgeon; John Walkin, Henry Campany, Gus Campany, A. D. Hendon, all Americans, and five Spanish, one Portuguese, one Swede and one Russian."

New York, March 18.—Forty-eight men who were Americans by birth or by naturalization and nine others, several believed to be naturalized Americans, comprised the crew of the American freight steamship City of Memphis, reported from London today as having been sunk by shell fire. The vessel was valued at $600,000.

Owned by the Ocean Steamship company, commonly known as the Savannah line, the City of Memphis, 5,225 tons gross, sailed from New York January 23, carrying 8,652 bales of cotton valued at $600,000. This she delivered at Havre, France, and was on her way to Liverpool in ballast when sunk.

Her captain was L. P. Burum, of Norfolk, Va., where he was born of American parents. Her other officers, all American born, except one.

First officer, C. G. Laird, Savannah; second officer, A. Carroll, naturalized American; third officer, M. Dierland, address unknown here; W. L. Percy, chief engineer, Savannah; F. Bevill, first assistant engineer, Savannah; F. McPherson, second assistant engineer, New York, and W. M. Thompson, third assistant engineer, address unknown here.

After she sailed the Turks signalled him to return, but Captain Burum suspected they intended to place his vessel between the warships and the town in the event of another bombardment and continued on his way.

On her voyages into the war zone, the City of Memphis each night carried a reflector above an American flag painted on either side and the ship's name appeared in six foot letters in ballast when sunk.

Her captain was L. P. Burum, of Norfolk, Va., where he was born of American parents. Her other officers, all American born, except one.

First officer, C. G. Laird, Savannah; second officer, A. Carroll, naturalized American; third officer, M. Dierland, address unknown here; W. L. Percy, chief engineer, Savannah; F. Bevill, first assistant engineer, Savannah; F. McPherson, second assistant engineer, New York, and W. M. Thompson, third assistant engineer, address unknown here.

Of the others on board, the ship's surgeon, Dr. F. Shea and the wireless operators, J. Welch and P. J. Donohue, lived in New York as did also the baker; D. S. Jackson, chief cook; G. McLean, second cook; J. Lewis, messman; J. Cooke and C. Cooke, waiters, and G. Canty and G. M. Mitchell, mess boys. All of these were American born or naturalized Americans.

In this category also were H. O. Bovill, steward, negro, of Savannah; C. A. Phillips, electrician; F. Monteire, H. H. Hobbs, and J. Alquist, water tenders; J. Rumburg, C. B. Winn and J. Walker, oilers; N. P. Clausen, boatswain; E. Neilson, H. Solgoord and F. Rahn, quartermasters; A. Pederson, W. Leisberg, S. Ludwigen, F. Putten, R. G. Lassen, L. Abrahamsen, F. T. Timmerman and J. D. Hanlon, sailors, and W. J. Nixon, M. Lopez, M. Gutierrez, M. Bancello, B. Carrascosa, B. Tarres, L. Perez, A. Gomez and J. Sanchez, coal passers.

There were nine firemen some of whom were thought to be Americans by naturalization. Every officer had his American license and every naturalized American his naturalization papers in compliance with a rule of the ship's owners.

While on her last voyage from New York, the City of Memphis was halted off the Scilly Islands, January 29, by a German submarine, whose captain demanded to see the papers she carried.

A mate went aboard the U-boat and was informed that inasmuch as the American carried a contraband cargo, she ought to be sunk, but that

GERMANY'S TOTAL SHOWS GOAL REACHED

BUT ENGLISH FIGURES OFFER A WIDE DISPARITY TO CLAIMS OF TEUTONS.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Friday, March 16 (by Wireless to Sayville, March 18).—Merchant ships of an aggregate tonnage of 781,500 were destroyed in February as a result of war measures of the central powers, the admiralty announced today.

Three hundred and sixty-six vessels comprised the loss. Among them were 222 hostile ships with an aggregate gross tonnage of 644,000 and 76 neutral ships of an aggregate gross tonnage of 137,500. Among the neutral ships 61 were sunk by submarines, which is 16.5 per cent of the total in February, as compared with 29 per cent, the average of neutral losses in the last four months.

There is a wide disparity between the official German figures of the destruction of shipping in February, the first month of unrestricted submarine warfare, and the figures given out in England. It was said authoritatively in London on March 13 that in February submarines sent to the bottom, in round numbers, 490,000 tons of shipping. No mention was made of ships destroyed by mines.

CZAR TO CRIMEA: SHORN OF POWER: NEW RULE SUPREME

RUSSIAN ARMIES JUBILANT OVER
REVOLUTION—DECLARE ALLE-
GANCE TO REPUBLIC.

By Associated Press
Petrograd, March 18, 2:30 p. m., via London, March 19, 2:17 a. m.—Nicholas, Romanoff, as the former emperor now is designated, left with his staff today for his personal estate at Livadia, on the south coast of Crimea.

With the cementing of the elements concerned in construction of the new government upon the ruins of the old, the new cabinet ministers, relieved of the heavy grind of endless conferences of the last few days, have assumed the posts. Prof. Paul N. Miliukoff spent yesterday at the foreign office. In the afternoon he received the diplomatic representatives of the entente allies, after which he entered upon a long cabinet conference. One of his first acts was to send cable messages to the Russian diplomats abroad to the effect that Russia was united in the desire to fight out the war with the allies, the determination to continue the conflict until the victory is achieved being stronger than ever.

The armies in the field have advised that abdication of the emperor has been enthusiastically acquiesced in, according to a foreign office official. Telegrams from virtually all commanders have been received, assuring the support of the government guaranteed in advance by Gen. Michael Alexieff, chief of staff.

The proper designation of the new government appears to puzzle even officials. Government-constitute is the appellation used in foreign office dispatches sent abroad. While of temporary nature, it is permanent compared with the first duma committee which was hurriedly assembled, in the opinion of one official, although it is contemplated that the cabinet heads shall continue to govern only until those elected by a constitutional assembly shall replace them. The assembly, which will be selected by popular vote, will be composed of approximately 600 members. It will be the business of the assembly to determine the form of the future government and draft a new constitution.

Confidence in New Rule.

Confidence is everywhere expressed that under the new government the military and industrial forces of the country will be enabled to carry on operations upon a much larger scale than before and considerably magnify their efforts toward a speedy termination of the war. Endless friction between departments and the continual fear on the part of the old government that too complete organization might result in the sudden growth of popular power have left a great part of the resources of the country inert and useless. Every effort at the mobilization of these resources, each plan to organize and expedite the transportation of supplies met with the most stubborn opposition.

Probably no event of similar magnitude ever had a less colorful aftermath or was accomplished by the people so vitally interested with less demonstration. With the exception of a few parades, chiefly in the district of the duma, people went soberly about their business yesterday as if satisfied with a good task well performed. Apparently, the excess of enthusiasm had been in the stirring days preceding the final denouement.

The review of troops that had been scheduled was postponed. Doubtless the heavy snowstorm that continued most of the day had much to do with dampening the ardor of the people. Several factories have resumed operations for the first time in more than a week.

3,000 Women Serve as Volunteer Army

By Associated Press
Paris, March 18.—Three thousand women volunteers are now in the service of the national defense. The Associated Press is informed by Madame Emile Boutroux, wife of the eminent French philosopher and cousin of President Poincaré. Madame Boutroux presides the "Women's Volunteer Enrolling Committee," besides directing the auxiliary hospital installed in the establishment of the Thiers Foundation for original research.

"Hundreds of our volunteers are replacing men in clerical positions," she said. "Others, including many society women, are looking after the children of women munitions workers. Little by little our volunteers are assuming every different kind of auxiliary service women are capable of doing."

"Several different 'crews' of women volunteers have been helping organize the distribution of coal in Paris during the severe weather."

"At Saint Etienne our volunteers are supervising the distribution of sugar cards, releasing just so many men for military service."

"We have ready at all times what we call 'flying crews' that are at the disposition of different departments of public administration for new or urgent service anywhere."

at which the conference was being held at 11:30 o'clock. The brotherhood chiefs were said to have retired at the hotel which is their headquarters. The mediators still were conferring together.

All the parties concerned appeared somewhat pessimistic. No announcement was made as to whether the conference would be resumed during the night.

A few minutes after the announcement was made the railroad managers went from the Grand Central terminal to the conference hotel and were joined immediately by the mediators. They refused to make any statement on the way to the meeting room.

The mediators and managers were believed to be awaiting the arrival of the brotherhood chiefs, who had retired, before making the announcement that the strike had been averred.

The brotherhood men arrived at the hotel at 1:20, and immediately went to the conference room.

The managers left the conference room at 2 o'clock, but the brotherhood chiefs remained in conference with the mediators. It was learned that Daniel Willard, one of the mediators, had informed the hotel management that he would give up his rooms this morning.

Pool Retail Trade Is War Proposal

By Associated Press.

London, March 18.—A proposal for pooling retail trades during the war has been approved at Birmingham by the civil and military authorities. Under the scheme, bread will be produced at large centers and districts allotted to certain people for the purpose of delivery. Milk will be distributed in the same way. Small, one-man businesses will be worked together under a pooling scheme, and after the war restored to their original state. By this means it is hoped to release a large number of men for the army.

SPEND HOLIDAYS ON FARMS.

That Is Ontario's Plea in Effort to Meet Labor Shortage.

Plans for what is known as the "farm holiday campaign" are being made by the Ontario department of agriculture. This is an appeal to the people in the towns and cities to spend any of their spare time on the farms to help in production. The labor question is said to be a serious one for farmers, and unless they have the cooperation of everybody they will have difficulty in putting in their seeds and reaping their harvests.

A special call is being made to people to take their holidays on the farms and not at summer resorts.

It has been suggested that towns should organize production and thrift clubs. The department is in a position to place people on farms wherever they desire to go. Application can be made to the district representative officers or to the central department.

WESTERN UNION'S WACO "FEATURE"

This adequately and convincingly shows you the "long" and the "short" of the Western Union.

The other day a News reporter passed the Western Union and standing side by side were the two boys above, who are known as "Mutt and Jeff of messenger service fame."

The taller—Oliver Lloyd of 516 South Fifteenth street, who has been in the service of the Western Union for a little more than a month—is 15 years old, is 6 feet 1 1/2 inches in height. The smaller—Tommie Wilson of 416 Hopkins street, who has been with the messenger service for about half a year—is 14 years of age, and is 4 feet 10 inches in height, 13 1/2 inches lower than Oliver.

"What do you do with your money?" was asked Tommie, soon after the camera-man had snapped him.

"I give it to my mother," he replied. "I added that his father is dead. He said he was attending night school at the Western Union.

Both Oliver and Tommie are fond of the Western Union and believe they are learning the first foundations of business there.

Manager Jones of the Western Union is proud of his boys, and be they tall or short selects them according to their fitness for the business; they are engaged in, and retain them according to the interest manifested in calling for and delivering telegrams promptly and accurately. When the company gets moved into their new and handsome location in the Fidelity building, which has been delayed on account of the non-receipt of certain electrical machinery, an apartment is to be set aside for the messenger boys, which will provide for their uniforms reading rooms and telegraph tables and instruments for them to practice on. It is a fact that boys who stick and learn the business are recognized and rapidly promoted.

SHORT ONES.

Too many speak of the "average man" with a far-away look.

Speaking of food speculators, there's the consumer who buys a cold storage egg.

When you give an opponent the benefit of a doubt it soon becomes a benefit forgot.

As a rebuke to the fellow who thinks he knows it all, attention is hereby called to the remark of a professor who says it is impossible for the smartest man to know more than one-seventh-billionth of the knowledge of the world.

AS THE CURTAIN FALLS.

THE loss of three American ships with the probable death of fourteen Americans thru German sub warfare, as reported yesterday, constitutes "overt acts" which President Wilson declared at the time of giving Bernstorff his passport, would force the United States to use "further means" to protect herself. The Memphis case appears particularly outrageous in that the Stars and Stripes went down amid German gunfire. Any other name but piracy fails to describe these acts.

In the face of this situation that must cause the American fist to tighten, The News asks its readers to await the mature judgment of the president. He knows, where we can but guess, the intimate delicacy of the situation. If the president can accomplish the result of keeping the seas open to American commerce with honor and without a participation in the war as a full ally of the entente, there are but few of us who will not approve the method. Frankly, The News can see little ahead but the formal declaration of the state of war.

THE economic situation, should war now be our lot, is brighter than it has been at any time since the series of German crises began. Sane judgment holds that the world war is near the closing period. Participation of the United States at this time could hardly pass the naval and financial stage. The ruthless submarine warfare begun in February has reached a point where it can be stated that it will not starve out England and her allies and that it cannot be a deciding factor in the war. It may tighten the British belt, but otherwise it is merely a phase of the crescendo of horror.

THE Turk armies appear collapsing following the fall of Bagdad. The English-French gains of the past week surpass the western front advance of the two years preceding. A more vigorous Russia is growing thru a revolt against the German peace cabal at St. Petersburg. Bapaume, key to Brussels, has fallen, as has Peronne, a railroad center almost as important. These events of a week indicate the magnificent Teutonic military machine is at last being shattered by the weight of its more loosely welded opposition.

SHOULD war be our lot now, America enters the theatre as the curtain falls. History will record a last act showing the helmeted, gray-cloaked Kaiser facing the united armed front of the civilized world as he steps backward over the precipice of defeat.

IF FROM the abyss rises a permanent faith of mankind in the democratic theory of government and an international comradeship in which war can have no part, who shall say the tragedy has been in vain? Providence labors in cycles rather than in decades.

What Others Say

(Seattle (Wash.) Post-Intelligencer)

A slight hint of what is to follow when the war ends is seen at Rochester, N. Y., where a plant which had been running orders for munitions of war and paying men $9 a day ran out of such orders, sought to return to its previous line of manufacture and undertaken to cut wages to $4.50 a day. Of course, there was an immediate strike.

Letters from the People

The News is pleased today to be able to contribute a scientific article concerning the high cost of living and food values by the chief medical director of the Amicable Life.—The Editor.

To the Editor:
In discussing the high cost of living, the advance in food prices comes in for a good deal of vicarious abuse. The chief reason for the high cost of food is that the supply is far short of the demand. In ten years the city population has increased 11,000,000, while the rural population increased only 4,000,000; hence there are relatively less food producers than ever before and more consumers than ever.

But there is plenty of food and at low prices if a little attention is given to a study of food values and the reasonable needs of the human body. The average householder is woefully ignorant of the human system and has no knowledge of a balanced and proper diet, though the general principles could be learned with a few hours' earnest study.

We careless Americans are still throwing away the best part of our main food when we use peeled potato, boiled flour, polished rice and prepared breakfast foods; the hulls of these grains and the skin of the potato contain minerals absolutely necessary to our health; we ignorantly waste the best part of these great staples.

All food prices have advanced; but, fortunately for us, we do not need those which are extravagantly high; there are substitutes which serve better and cost less.

A few weeks ago an experiment was made by the life extension institute in feeding a squad of twelve husky young men who were in training for the police force of New York City.

These young fellows were actively drilling for the force and naturally eating heartily of a generous diet.

For three weeks they were put on the experimental diet and their condition carefully and scientifically watched and noted.

They kept up their daily work as usual with its active life and hard drilling every day. The food was bought at the groceries as might be done by any housekeeper at usual prices. The men were given a very liberal diet—all they wanted—about 3,500 heat units a day, which is about 50 per cent more than the average business man requires unless actively exercising. At the end of three weeks it was found the squad had gained twenty-nine pounds in weight, an average of two and one-half pounds each; all were in perfect health and they all expressed themselves as well pleased with the diet and feeling better physically than before the test was undertaken.

And what did the food cost? Exactly 25¢ per man per day!

Instead of spending our strength in decrying the high cost of food we would better learn a little about simple foods and human needs and know how to buy and prepare nutritious dishes properly from the inexpensive articles we have at hand. What was done by the diet squad in New York can be done by the average family right here in Waco; all that is needed is intelligence in buying, a proper selection of food for a balanced diet and reasonable skill in cooking.

CHURCHES TO BACK SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

perintendents entered into the work with enthusiasm, which in turn was caught up by the Sunday school leaders when announcement of the News program was made to the various Sunday school assemblies yesterday morning and afternoon.

Totals brought to the News last evening by churches of the city who have thus far reported as entering the movement show the First Baptist church leading with a Sunday school attendance of 440, the Austin Avenue Methodist next with 311, the Seventh and James Street Baptist third with 315 and the Clay Street Baptist fourth with 265.

This, however, does not mean that these four Sunday schools are in the lead in the movement. Every Sunday school of Waco started even yesterday, the point being that the attendances of yesterday are to serve as the basis for computing final standings in the movement to see which ones have made, by and including Easter Sunday, the greatest average attendance gain.

The editor of the Morning News stated last night that churches who did not make their Sunday school report last evening, have an opportunity to add their names to the list any day this week, the attendance of yesterday to be retained as the basis for computation of their future average increases.

Dugout Hardships Step Aside Sometimes

By Associated Press.

French Front, March 18.—From the hardships of the dugout and the trench is now but a step for the French soldier. Right behind the front fighting line the best among the French public entertainers—from the opera, the state-subsidized and private theaters and the variety halls—greet the soldiers when they come back for their short interval of repose.

One of the originators of this idea was Lucien Boyer, perhaps the most widely known Bohemian poet of France and now a simple private in the famous Alpine corps. His age did not permit him after his mobilization to take part in the actual fighting and he was employed on very necessary but dull work in the rear. While doing this he often entertained the men of his company with selections from his songs and the cheeriness of his comrades because so marked that the attention of the higher authorities was called to the usefulness of providing entertainment for them. Hundreds of applications from actresses were received, asking to be permitted to participate in the work.

The difficulty of allowing women to enter the battle zone was eventually overcome and now several troupes composed of the leading actors and actresses of France, are continually on tour among the troops. They visit every rest camp behind the front lines from time to time and some of them, including Boyer, have been as far as Macedonia.

None of the performers obtains any emolument for the services given. The women are given free transport to the places where they are to perform and that is all they receive. The men, when they are of military age, receive the pay and rations of the private soldier.

Hundreds of artists volunteer for the work and many of those selected for remunerative engagements in order to serve their country in this way.

Will pay for the chance to heal Catarrh

After an experience of 25 years, during which time 50 million Americans have used Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly, the manufacturers of this remedy feel so sure that it will relieve catarrh—that they offer to pay for a chance to prove its benefit to any catarrhal sufferer. They announce that any resident of this community can go to almost any drug store and get a complimentary trial can at the expense of the manufacturers. If the druggist has no gratuitous packages, the person may buy a 25 cent tube with the unqualified understanding that if that first tube does not do that person more than a dollar's worth of good, he or she can get their quarter back from either the druggist, or the Kondon Company at Minneapolis. Over 35,000 druggists know Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly is effective, harmless, clean and pleasant to apply—and they know the Kondon people will gladly live up to this offer—"quarter back if not worth a dollar." Algeria Ship Trade Shows War Results

By Associated Press.

Oran, Algeria, March 18.—The movement of shipping in the ports of Algeria gives an indication of the state to which any purely Mediterranean country has been reduced by lack of shipping facilities, even before submarines entered into serious consideration. Between Algeria and France alone on August 1, 1914, 109 ships were plying with an annual tonnage of 11,290,600. On July 1, 1915, before the submarine campaign in the Mediterranean had assumed formidable proportions, the number of ships plying between Algeria and France alone had been reduced to fifty totalling an annual tonnage of 3,631,000. About fifty per cent of the bottoms had disappeared, seventy-five per cent of their net tonnage and sixty-five per cent of their annual carrying capacity. Of the vessels withdrawn from the Algerian trade, twenty-four had been requisitioned, but fifteen had been sunk. No figures are available on the results since that time, but a very great many ships serving one or another of the Algerian ports are known to have been sunk by submarines.

Oran has suffered least of the northwest African ports. Since 1913 the loss in tonnage of Algiers has been sixty per cent; that of Oran only six per cent, the latter now virtually equaling the tonnage of the capital. This disparity is attributed to the fact that thirty per cent of the entire Algerian income from wines, and forty-five per cent of Algeria's total produce in cereals, pass through the port of Oran, and while the commerce in other products has been vastly reduced or suspended by the war, that in wines and cereals has only been augmented. A business in special lines which in 1913 amounted to $237,604,200 for all Algeria, has been reduced by the war to $169,170,600 in 1915. Oran, however, suffered only in point of its large production of early vegetables usually grown for the winter Paris market.

In 1914 the shipping in the Mediterranean was still safe, few of the fast fruit and vegetable carrying vessels had been requisitioned for transport purposes, and Oran shipped some 10,250 tons of artichokes, peas, green beans, tomatoes and other vegetables to France in the course of the year.

The extension of the war to the Eastern Mediterranean in 1915 reduced this output to 6,000 tons for that year, and almost annihilated it last year. An annual exportation of 10,169 tons of fruits and melons in 1914 suffered a similar fate. Even potatoes, more easily transportable than either early vegetables or fruits, fell from 3,704 tons in 1914 to 2,594 tons in 1915 and less than half that in 1916. As Oran is the gate of the principal vegetable garden in France, these figures, due almost entirely to the lack of means of transport, are regarded as explaining in large measure the greatly augmented costs of living in France as well as the tightness of money and general hard times in Algeria.

Two Well-Known Bankers of the South Voluntarily Write Strong Letters of Indorsement to Tanlac Office at Atlanta on the Same Day Telling What It Had Done for Them.

ON MARCH 7th personal letters from prominent bankers in two Southern states were received at the Tanlac office. These, like hundreds of thousands of other communications that have been pouring in with every delivery of the mail for the past year or more, express the writers' high appreciation of the merits of Tanlac, as proven by their own experience with it.

The first letter quoted comes through Eli W. Goode, druggist and local agent for Tanlac at Hawkinsville, Ga., containing the statement of E. J. Henry, president of the Hawkinsville Bank and Trust company, which is one of the best known financial institutions in that part of the state. His letter follows, just as it was written:

"Hawkinsville, Ga., March 5, 1917.
Mr. G. F. Willis, Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Sir: I wish to say that I have taken five (5) bottles of Tanlac and have gained fifteen (15) pounds in three weeks. I think it is a great medicine.

(Signed)

"W. C. M'ELVEEN, Cashier,
Bank of Hornbeck, Hornbeck, La.

"It is nothing unusual for men of prominence to endorse Tanlac, as over twenty-five thousand endorsements have been given Tanlac within the past year alone. These endorsements have come from people representing practically every walk of life, including bankers, lawyers, judges, doctors, prominent government, state and county officials, prominent men of affairs, etc., but it is noteworthy that in this particular instance two well known bankers of the South have on the same day voluntarily written an expression of their gratitude for publication, telling what Tanlac has done for them.

In this connection one of the best known newspaper publishers of the South recently said:

"I know that there are at least a thousand people in this city who would be glad to endorse Tanlac," and what is true of every other city of the South and West; in fact, throughout the entire country wherever this medicine has been sold.

The fame and popularity of Tanlac, as everyone knows, has swept over the whole country like wildfire and is now a household word from coast to coast. Although placed on the market a little over two years ago, over seven million bottles have already been sold, and the demand is constantly increasing.

Tanlac is sold in Waco by Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.

POLLY AND HER PALS—THE "BOYS" WOULD RATHER DUCK THAN DANCE.

"FAT" FLINGERS FURNISH FUNNY FINALE FOR FANS

DETROIT THOUGHT EHMKE WAS TALL UNTIL THEY SAW OUR CLAUDE.

By "Pop" Boone.

AFTER the big fellows from the automobile center had broken out with three singles, a triple and a home run which they mixed judiciously with a couple of passes in the fourth inning for a total of eight runs—after this little scene had killed the game as a sporting proposition, the fans turned to other things to while away the long Sunday afternoon yesterday at Katy park. Also they had to eke out the rest of their four-bits' worth. And be it said here and now, the fan who didn't extract full value from the last two innings would think he was being cheated if he paid a nickel to see Bill Hart, Theda Bara, Charley Chaplin and Clara Kimball Young in a ten-reel comedy thriller.

Young Mr. Head, from the Columbus team of the South Atlantic league, was selected by the Skipper to furnish amusement for the big-timers in the opening inning. He stuck on the job just one inning too long. For three frames he looked the classy pitcher he is. Then he blew. He showed plainly at the start that he was fighting a sore arm—no, now, no alibi, the boy really had a sore arm. But he stuck with 'em until the fourth. Then old Tubby Spencer walked up, took a toe-hold on one of the lad's cute little curves and laid against it. Oh, yes, it was a Homer.

Then Couch and Bush scratched singles, which were followed by walks to Young and Nicholson. Then Bobby Veach gave his famous imitation of the Goldusters cleaning up. Grubb sandwiched in a couple of errors. Burns tripped. Gee, it was a sin!

Head Is Lifted.

Hardy finally sent the wrecker after the sufferer. A sturdy flinger named Russ, who hails from El Paso, Ark., was the wrecker. I'll bet you've learned something right now—you didn't even know there was an El Paso, Ark. Anyhow this Russ stopped the slaughter pronto, and stood up all right in his two other innings under fire.

While all these doings were going on the home nine was up against some pitching. One Crouch, who meteored out of the Galveston club a couple of seasons ago, started the flinging for Jennings' nine. He allowed Buddy Tanner to scratch a hit on his first trip, but after this he was as inincible as the unbeaten Pet Brown. No walks, no hits, no batmen.

Crouch worked four innings. He worked so well that Jennings thought he'd give the Waco boys a chance, so he sent in an easy one—nobody but Coveleski. Yes, The Covelski. It would be a waste of paper to recite the history of his two innings—aside from the fact that he almost killed Mike Wotell. Mike was too slick for him, however, and ducked at least 250th part of a second too quick.

Then the Joy.

Enter comedy. He took the form of one Ehmke—a long, lean, lanky flinger who looked too weak to throw a door-knob through a window light. Is he? Oh, boy! That guy has more different kinds of smoke than Villa Hayes—I almost said wives. He has fast smoke, and faster smoke and that is faster. Incidentally, he too, almost knocked Mike's head off. He reaches back and down to his rear heel, balances himself a minute, untangles, and when he does untangle the ball comes out of the mix-up somewhere. And, believe me, boy, it sure does come! And hop! That ball's go a hop on it like unto my big domineer rooster the day he stepped in the hot ashes.

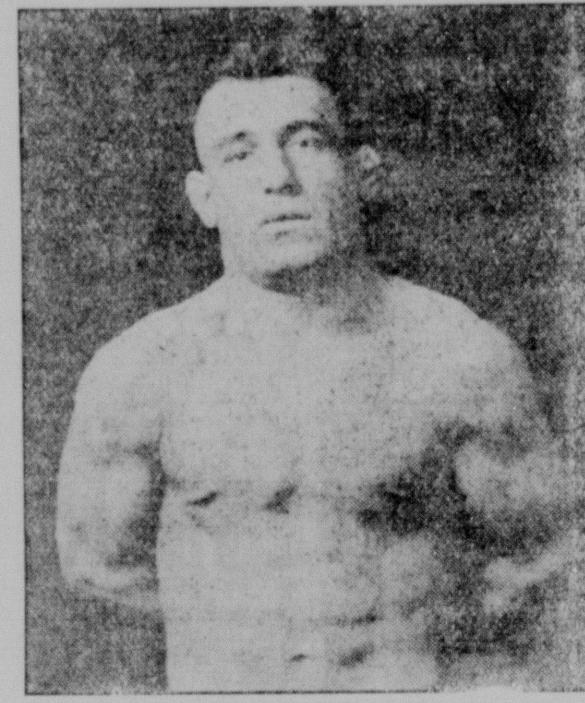

This here Ehmke is about seven feet tall. Detroit was right proud of him, bein' so tall and this and still stickin' together.

But they crowded too quick. Hardy sent Russ to the shower and trotted out our Claude Davenport. Claude made Ehmke look like a fat dwarf. I won't say that he has the hop on his fast one that Ehmke has, or that his curve breaks as quick, or that he has control of a cross-fire. But he showed enough stuff in his two innings to get the crowd with him good and strong.

The six men who faced him failed to hit the ball out of the diamond, and three of them failed to hit it anywhere. Not only that, but he wasn't in the hole on 'ary one of 'em. And this in the face of the fact that every half-witted comedian in the lot was ridin' him with a line of pulling stuff that wouldn't have made a hyena laugh.

The two slim figures gave a glorious twist to a dead game and furnished

Meets "Pet" Brown Tonight

Harry Demetral, champion of Ohio.

What promises to be the best wrestling match seen in Waco in many years will be pulled off tonight at the Auditorium theatre between Pet Brown of Taylor and Harry Demetral.

Brown's record is already well known to the wrestling fans of Waco. His victories over opponents on the mat are counted by the number of matches he has been in. Using his head as well as his muscular strength and science, Brown has won a greater name for himself than any other middleweight grapper.

A preliminary wrestling bout will enliven things.

BEAR BASEBALL TEAM TO PLAY NAVIGATORS TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Baylor university baseball team will have the first opportunity of testing their strength Tuesday afternoon, when they meet the Waco Navigators in a contest at Katy park. A second game will be played with the Waco team Thursday of this week, at Carroll field.

The Baptist college team is claiming a strong line-up and is bidding for first honors in the intercollegiate league for the oncoming season.

The past week has been devoted to strenuous work, a number of games having been played between the scrub team and the regulars.

It is probable that Kellogg will do the catching in the first contest with the Navigators, with Thompson holding down third base. Fielder is making a strong bid for shortstop. McCarthy, his best rival for this position, has a lame back, which will probably keep him out of the contests this week.

In the games played last week the infield proving the best combination for defensive work includes Thompson at third; Fielder, short; Miller, second, and Wiebusch at first.

In the outfield the only problem existing is in the right fielder's berth. Fouts, Smith and Jack Roach are showing all kinds of speed and a choice of any of the three will complete a strong outfield. Wilson and Lucion Roach are fixtures for the other two outfield positions.

On the pitching staff, Coach "Bubs" Mosley has little cause to worry. Sanderford, Duncan, Farrington, Eads, Rickman, McDaniel and Wolf are all in good condition. Duncan, Sanderford and Farrington will probably work in the game with the Navigators.

CONFEDERATE VETS REFUSE TO ASK ANYBODY'S AID

MAKE DECISION YESTERDAY RE-GARDING TRIP TO WASHING-TON REUNION.

The Confederate Veterans of Pat Cleburne camp, U. C. V., will not ask anyone to aid the veterans in getting to the national reunion in Washington in June.

This was decided definitely at the meeting yesterday afternoon at the armory. The veterans seemed to think it would smack too much of asking favors. As one veteran put it: "I am not in favor, Comrades, of asking anybody to sell flags, give entertainments or take any other steps to raise a fund to get the veterans to Washington. If any organization or individual chooses to take up the matter, there would of course be no objection. But I would oppose having this camp go on record as asking such a thing of any one."

And there the matter will rest until someone voluntarily takes up the proposition.

The round trip rate to the national reunion in June was fixed at $34.05, and Gus Hoover, traveling passenger agent of the Cotton Belt railroad, spoke to the veterans regarding his road, which generally is used in attending the reunions. The sleeper fare for the round trip would be about $8.

Brigade Commander J. C. Hyer and Lieutenant Commanders J. A. Erhard and A. C. Johnson appeared for the Sons of Veterans and sought information relative to young men who might be interested in the proposed organization of a camp of Sons of Veterans at Waco.

J. H. Thompson of company E, forty-fifth Georgia Infantry, was elected to membership.

Commander C. L. Johnson presided at the meeting with Adjutant Bradford Hancock in charge of the record keeping.

Christian Church Will Have Endeavor Meeting

What promises to be an unusually bright and interesting conference will be held at the Central Christian church by the officers of the various Christian Endeavor societies of Waco union that compose the executive force of that organization, tonight at 8 o'clock. All officers of the various societies and officers of the Waco union are members and have been requested to be in attendance. The pastors of the various churches having a Christian Endeavor society have also been invited to attend this gathering.

Clay Street Baptists in Interesting Meeting Sunday

The services at the Clay Street Baptist church yesterday were largely attended and full of interest. There were one profession and two additions. Every service held is preparatory to the meeting which is to begin on the first Sunday in April, with L. J. Mims of Brownwood doing the preaching.

Organ Recital Is Feature at St. Paul's This Evening

An organ recital will be enjoyed by members and friends of St. Paul's Episcopal church and the public generally tonight, 8 o'clock, at the church. Prof. F. E. Eggert will be in charge of the recital, which will be free. In addition to the instrumental numbers there will be a few vocal selections.

MEXICAN S. S. IN WACO INTERESTING

FEATURE MEETING HELD YES- TERDAY AT THE FIRST BAP- TIST CHURCH.

One of the most interesting meetings of the Mexican Sunday school yet held at the First Baptist church was that of yesterday afternoon.

W. A. Moys, president of the Mexican Baptist state convention and superintendent of the Mexican mission work in this part of the state, was present. The attendance was between seventy-five and one hundred.

The Sunday school was addressed by Dr. George Brewer, superintendent of Mexican mission work in Mexico, and by Policarpo Barro of Tampico, pastor of the Mexican church at that place, and also a missionary. The addresses were in Spanish.

Shamrock Party Given by Local Christian Endeavor

A shamrock party was given by the Christian Endeavours of the Morrow Street Methodist church at the church, Saturday night, March 17. An Irish air prevailed throughout the evening, and the green was especially noticeable. Refreshments were served in the way of box lunches which sold for a nominal sum. President Bailey was much enthused by the splendid showing made, and the proceeds of the box lunch went toward defraying the indebtedness accrued by the recent purchase of a piano by the Christian Endeavours.

Waco Christian Endeavor to Meet Next Sunday

As the Waco Christian Endeavor union is to meet next Friday night at the Central Christian church, the executive body of that organization, which is the congress, will hold a conference at the Central Christian church at 8 o'clock tonight. Many items are to be discussed and one of the most important meetings that has been held in many months. All Christian Endeavor officers and the pastors of the various churches have been requested to attend.

These men are the leading figures in the big rail meeting now in progress in New York City. Warren S. Stone is at the head of the Locomotive Engineers; W. G. Lee is grand chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; W. S. Carter is president of the Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; Elisha Lee, assistant general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, is spokesman for the railway managers.

The Waco Art league is exhibiting Cox pictures today and tomorrow at 511 Austin avenue, in the building formerly occupied by the Marks Millinery company.

More than twenty Cox pictures are on display, with several of the most noteworthy of the Mezdag collection, now owned by Mr. Henson. The Mezdag pictures were collected in Holland. "The Return of the Flock," presented by the Waco Art league to the public library, is one of the same collection.

Mr. Cox, the artist whose pictures are on display, was for many years a resident of Waco, and the subjects of some of his best pictures are scenes in Waco and the immediate vicinity. Mr. Cox has been recognized by the art critics as one of the truest interpreters of nature and his technique is said to border on the perfect.

No question as to the fame and value of the Mezdag collection, which has been on display at the Raleigh for several days. Mr. Henson, who is exhibiting the collection, will speak on art and many individual pictures on Monday and Tuesday at 4 p. m.

Members of the Art League will give information concerning all the pictures on display.

A small admission price is charged to cover rental cost and incidental expenses—ten cents for adults, five cents for children.

In Thousands of Families

Instant Postum is regarded as one of the regular staples of the pantry, along with flour, sugar and other "necessities" of life.

Instant Postum looks and tastes much like coffee, but causes none of the discomforts of coffee. It is a pure food-drink, rich in the nourishing goodness of choice wheat, including the mineral elements of the grain so essential for perfect health.

Here is a beverage that children as well as the older ones can safely enjoy. It is ideal in its convenience (made instantly in the cup) and delicious flavor. A ten days' trial shows
